THE AGNES SCOTT.

Formal Dedication of the New School

Yesterday.

BEAUTIFUL AND INTERESTING EXERCISES.

Speeches by Prominent Georgia Divines.
The Synod of the Presbyterian Church Present.

The flower of Presbyterianism in Georgia gathered yesterday at Decatur.

It was the occasion of formally dedicating the Agnes Scott Institute, a high-grade institution for the education of young women.

The synod of Georgia was present in a body, besides a large number of the Presbyterians from Atlanta and neighboring places.

Fully 3,000 people attended the dedication ceremonies. All the standing room in the chapel had been occupied by 3 o'clock.

The ceremony was beautiful and impressive. It lasted for three hours, although there were few aware of it, and at several times few eyes were seen not dimmed with tears.

The opening prayer was one of thanksgiving for the successful founding of the Agnes Scott Institute. Dr. Warren Candler read in full the 119th Psalm.

All hail the power of Jesus' name was then sung in chorus by the 246 girls and young ladies of the school.

Rev. E. H. Barnett gave a historical sketch of the birth, growth and success of the institute.

"It began," he said, "in a movement of the synod of Georgia to establish a female school of high grade in 1834."

The movement grew with many vicissitudes until, after the munificent patronage of Colonel Scott, it was chartered in 1889 as a full-fledged institution, with its control vested in a board of trustees of the Presbyterian church.

Today an enrollment of 246, of which eighty-two are boarders, and a faculty numbering fifteen. Forty thousand dollars in land and money had been given by Mr. George W. Scott.

The delivering of the deed to Rev. F. H. Gaines in behalf of the trustees was done by Mr. George W. Scott with few and appropriate words.

Following that Mr. C. M. Candler read a statement to show how the original promises of Mr. Scott had been fulfilled. The institute now owns seven acres of land, worth $9,500, and a handsomely equipped building which, with all its fixtures, furniture and scientific apparatus, had cost $101,736.05. It is conveyed to the trustees free from debt.

Rev. F. H. Gaines stated that the institute had been founded for the glory and service of God, for promoting higher Christian education among women, and as an enduring memorial to Mrs. Agnes Scott. This gift, Mr. Gaines stated, is the largest Presbyterian church ever received.

A touching prayer was then offered by Rev. J. C. Barr, of Pennsylvania, a venerable man, who was once the pastor of Mrs. Agnes Scott. An instrumental quartet, by Professor Meyer, Miss McBryde, Miss Pratt and Miss Shipman, followed.

"True Culture" was the topic of a splendid address by Dr. G. B. Strickler. A fitting tribute was paid to the late Mrs. Agnes Scott in all the departments of civilized life. But with it all there were many pernicious tendencies at work, which had to be controlled. Science attempted to array God's works against His word. THE CUSTOM HOUSE.

Gossip Gathered from Its Various Departments.

In the circuit court of yesterday the suit of J. L. Phillips against the Richmond and Danville came to an unexpected conclusion.

A mistrial was declared. A majority of the jurors were in favor of giving the plaintiff $10,000, and eleven of them agreed upon $5,000. But one juror held out against giving Phillips anything, and the case will have to be tried again. Mr. C. T. Laddson represented the plaintiff.

The suit of Prince Blevins against the Richmond and Danville for $20,000 was called in the morning. The plaintiff averred that he had received permanent injuries through the carelessness of the road, and through his attorneys, Reid & Stewart, asked for the amount named.

The case was easily disposed of, as Blevins compromised for $2,500.

The case of the Pendleton Gun Company against the Western Union Telegraph Company was called, but it was continued until today. It is a damage suit for $5,000.

Back from a Raid.
Deputy Collectors Hetherington and Ware and Deputy Marshal Grizzell made a successful raid on a saloon in the city yesterday. They seized a forty-five-gallon copper still, cap and worm, a number of vessels and 1,500 gallons of beer, and destroyed it all. There were no arrests made, as the proprietor and the men under him skipped and eluded the officers.Not Frosed Them.
Four moonshining cases were brought up before the district court yesterday, and all of them were not prosed. They were against C. T. Steele, of Fayette county, for illicit distilling; Bertie Ward, of Fannin county, for working in an illicit distillery; and Joseph Blackwell, of Lumpkin, and Isaac Brumlow, of Gilmore, for illicit distilling and working.Want a Warehouse.
Mr. A. L. Cuesta, the well-known tobaccoist, will leave for Cuba, his old home, tomorrow. On his return he will petition the government at Washington to have a bonded warehouse established in Atlanta to facilitate the exportation of leaf tobacco cigars, as the city is getting to be a large distributing point for southern cities.

The biggest shipment of cigars that has ever passed through the local collector of customs' hands arrived in Atlanta yesterday. They were from Mr. Cuesta, and amounted to almost ten thousand in number.

To Extend the Service.
Mr. L. M. Terrell, superintendent of the fourth division of the railway mail service, returned yesterday from an important trip through the Georgia. He made a careful visit over the Southbound railroad, from Savannah to Columbia, S. C., with a view of extending the mail service on that line.It began at last.
Work on the heating apparatus at the custom house began yesterday. For several months it has been awaited and needed, but the contractor delayed it badly. The contract calls for its completion on next Friday, but it will never be finished then, and Mr. John Lyon, of Washington, will undoubtedly have to remedy the tardiness in some way. The custom house elevator will be up and running by December 1st.Committed to Jail.
Deputy Marshals Campbell and Carter yesterday arrested Robert Berryman and George Ford in Gwinnett county, on a warrant charging them with illicit distilling and working. They were carried before Commissioner Gaston at Gainesville, and committed to Fulton county jail in default of three hundred dollars bond.

This put the number of moonshiners at the county prison beyond the hundred mark.

Harsh at Work.
District Attorney S. A. Darnell, General Phillips and Clerks Fuller and Carter are hard at work arranging for the next session of the criminal court. It opens on November 30th, and will continue until the fall term closes. A number of interesting cases will come up for a hearing, among them being one embodying several cases of mail robbing, conspiracies and perjury.THEIR SECOND DAYS WORK.
The Christian church of Georgia meets—An interesting presentation.

The Christian church of Georgia met for their second day's session yesterday morning. The meeting was still more largely attended than that of the day before, and proved equally interesting. Several delegates were present who had not arrived in time to attend the exercises on Wednesday, swelling the list of representatives to almost a hundred.

Elder T. M. Harris, state evangelist, conducted the exercises.

They were opened with devotional services, led by Rev. W. A. Chastain, of Jug Tavern, Ga., the secretary of the convention.

The reports of the various committees followed, and the different branches of work throughout the state were shown to be in a healthy and very encouraging condition. A finished and new business closed the morning's programme.

In the afternoon the exercises were opened with devotional services, led by Rev. W. A. Harp. Other matters of business were transacted, consisting of reports from the officers and unfinished work from the morning.

This was interspersed by short talks on appropriate topics, led by Rev. C. P. Williamson and other pastors.

At night Rev. T. M. Biens, of Savannah, Ga., delivered an able and impressive sermon. Today's exercises will conclude the convention's work. This morning there will be an election of officers for the ensuing year.

A Pleasant Incident.
At the conclusion of the services last evening there was a touching scene.

Elder T. M. Harris, formerly pastor of the church, who resigned his position to accept the call of state evangelist, was made the recipient of a beautiful book case, with four large and beautifully bound volumes of the "History of Civilization," from his former congregation, the "Gospel," by three members of his old Bible class, both rare and valuable literary works.

Mr. R. E. Mims made the presentation speech, and he referred to the high esteem held for Elder Harris and the significance of the gifts. His words were exceedingly appropriate and beautiful, and were feelingly responded to by the divine.

It was the first time the elder had been with his old congregation since two months ago. He is acting as president of the state convention, and his former flock regarded it an appropriate occasion to make a substantial expression of the love they feel for him personally, and his faithful and excellent work as their pastor.

It was an occasion unusually affecting, and one long to be remembered by the large audience that was present.

SHE IS INSANE.

Little Zetta Clark, Ponder's Victim, is a

Raving Maniac.

WILL THE GOVERNOR OFFER A REWARD?

Nobody Knows Who She Is or Where Ponder Got Her—Her Terrible Condition.

Zetta Clark, the victim of Walter Ponder's brutality, is still in a critical condition. Her mind is permanently deranged, and she will be a maniac the balance of her life.

If there was ever an object of both pity and charity she is one. Wednesday she was moved from Providence infirmary to the King's Daughters' hospital. Acting under advice, Warden Hunter yesterday ordered her removed to her aunt's, on West Peters street, and sent a cab to carry her. She entered the cab and directed the driver to a certain street and number, where she said her aunt lived. The driver found on arrival at the place that the wrong address had been given. Zetta then gave another street and number, but this was found to be a mistake. After driving to several places and failing to find the aunt, the driver carried her to police headquarters.

There while standing before the fire she began crying wildly for a nickel she said somebody owed her across the street. She got up and started out to collect the nickel, but was brought back. Her mind would fly from one fancy to another, and it was soon found that she was probably absolutely insane. She still cried for her aunt, and the driver was given her correct address.

The aunt was not at home when the child arrived, but the other women in the house said that the woman denied being her aunt, or in any way related to her, and did not want her.

Ponder's sister, when the child was hunting, says that, if he was ever married to Zetta's mother, she knows nothing about it.

The driver brought her back to the station house, and left her in the chief's office.

Mrs. Brittain went to see her. When she entered the room, the girl embraced her, and begged for something to eat, saying that she was starving to death. An oyster stew was ordered for her, and when it was brought in she almost went into spasms. She did not wait for a spoon, but went to eating with both hands like she was in reality starving to death. Mrs. Brittain communicated with Dr. Brown and arranged for her to be returned to the Providence infirmary.

The child is in a terrible condition. Mrs. Brittain has an engagement with Governor Northern this morning, and will request him to offer a reward for Ponder. The detectives say they will catch him if money enough is raised to pay the actual expenses of hunting him. They think they know where Ponder can be found. Nobody knows who the girl is or where Ponder got her.

A BRUTAL OUTRAGE.

The Terrible Crime of a Big, Burly Negro. They Are After Him.

The authorities want Charley Mason, a big yellow negro with side whiskers, and they want him badly.

He is wanted for a brutal outrage upon Mattie Hutchison, the twelve-year-old child of Ike Hutchison, a well-known colored man who lives near Inman Park.

The girl was visiting some relatives several blocks from home when the crime was committed. The people she was visiting went to church last Sunday night, and Mason started with them, but on pretense of "going by" after a friend he left them. He immediately went back to the house, so the father of the girl claims, and entered the room in which the girl had been left asleep. He pulled out a revolver and compelled her to submit under penalty of death.

The girl has been ill ever since, but until yesterday morning refused to tell what was the matter with her. She has been growing worse, and yesterday her mother discovered the character of her illness and made her tell the whole story.

IN THE CITY HALL.

The Water Board Will Report—The Forsyth Street Bridge.

The waterworks lake is filling up rapidly, and water is becoming more abundant. Sewer flushing will be given more attention in a few days.

When the general council meets Monday the water board will be on hand ready to render a full and complete report of its work. The report will contain some valuable information, and will make more apparent than ever the absolute necessity of the new water supply.

Early yesterday morning Superintendent Richards and Judge Hillier and Mr. Erwin, of the water board, drove out to the waterworks and went over the line of pipe from Pool's branch to the lake. They found everything in fine shape and came away well pleased.

The Forsyth Street Bridge.
The contract for the Forsyth street bridge has been sealed, signed and delivered.

Dr. Turner, chairman of the bridge committee, yesterday received a letter from the contractors stating that the contract for the Forsyth street bridge had been received, and adding:

"The execution of the work shall receive our immediate attention."

The Jones Avenue Blockade.
The people in the western part of the city are growing angrier every day.

It's all over the Jones avenue bridge. For three months the street at the bridge has been torn up so that residents of that portion of the city were compelled to come into the city by Simpson street. Now Simpson street has been torn up for Belgian blocks, and the people are cut off from the town almost entirely.

Secretary Ivey went over the books with the committee. His bond was fixed at $10,000. A resolution was adopted to request the national alliance, which meets at Indianapolis November 17th, to recommend a reduction of the cotton acreage in the cotton belt.

Pete Baker Coming.
The next attraction, at the Edgewood Avenue will be "Pete" Baker and his company in "The Emigrant." Baker has the reputation of being a sweet singer, and his support is reported as thoroughly capable.Appearances are deceitful.

However, knowingly she rejects him as a counterfeit.

Do the same when they offer you counterfeits of Johann Hoff's Malt Extract. See that the signature of "Johann Hoff" is on every bottle.

Some imitators have gone so far as to use the name of Hoff, but they have been compelled to add the agent's name.

Be sure to ask for Johann Hoff's. Counterfeits invariably contain a large proportion of salicylic acid as a preservative.

This acid wholly suspends the digesting power of the stomach. Johann Hoff's Extract is absolutely free from salicylic acid and other deleterious ingredients. It is acknowledged by the highest medical authorities to be the best malt extract for use in convalescence, for mothers while nursing, and as a table beverage for the sick and debilitated.

IT TAKES

About 3 1/2 yards of Cloth to make a Suit. But that's the smallest part of the worth that goes into it. Is it the fit? Well, partially it is the fit; and yet it might fit to the hair's breadth and be a failure as first-class merchant tailoring. The way cloth, trimmings, everything that belongs to the Clothing is put together is the main thing. That we call character—the most difficult and excellent feature that goes into the suit—and the most valuable.

Describe it? We can't. Nobody can. It is in the tailor's thought. It comes out in his work. That is why we say our tailors are so supremely good.

The products of our Mr. Satsky are full of character.

Our stock of Boys' Clothing is certainly one of the great charms of the store. The whole business of manufacturing is on a high platform. It isn't just keeping up with what is offered elsewhere. Our way is to lead, to excel, to surpass; not only to have the handsomest Boys' Clothing possible, but to show it days and weeks ahead of the trade, and to produce beautiful goods not found anywhere else. We press cloth-maker and work-people to their best service. We're always crowding our designer for the fresh effects, and he's always on the move to get them for us. Is it a new style? A new collar? A new color? It comes to us quick. It goes quick into circulation, too—for we've got the keenest boys in the world to serve.

IN SOCIETY'S DOMAIN.

The Brilliant Reception Tendered the Chi Phi Fraternity by Mayor and Mrs. Hemphill.

Other Events of Interest—Several Weddings and to Come—Gossip About People You Know.

The reception given by Mayor and Mrs. W. A. Hemphill in honor of the Chi Phi society last evening, was one long to be remembered in the annals of brilliant and delightful social functions. The elegant home of the host and hostess on Peachtree was made unusually brilliant by many lights and gorgeous flowers. The entire lower floor was thrown into one by means of folding doors, and the scene beggared description. The artist, beauty, rare flowers from Mrs. Hemphill's garden and conservatory made the air fragrant and delighted the eyes with a feast of color. The drawing rooms were adorned in rose color, and had floral decorations of pink roses and white chrysanthemums. The library's rich furniture and hangings were brightened by banks of yellow chrysanthemums on the mantels and bookcases. The arched way in the corridor was draped in red and blue silk, the colors of the fraternity, and from the center were suspended the letters of the society wrought in bright flowers. Many fairy lamps glowed among the blossoms, and the waxen tapers shed their soft light upon the scene.

Mrs. Hemphill always entertains in that old-fashioned, royally generous southern manner that many guests at sparsely seated tables to see universally revived. On this occasion a delicious and elaborate supper was beautifully served in the handsome dining room. The large round table was set in snowy white, the cloth being of a beautiful one of embroidered and lace-trimmed linen. The table's center piece was a great bowl of white roses set on a mirror wreathed in flowers. Bowls of white grapes, many exquisite loaves of cakes and white tapers in silver and cut glass candelabra completed the adornment.

Mrs. Hemphill was very handsome as she stood to receive her guests in an elegant gown of glowing velvet, with a diamond necklace and a pair of large diamond earrings.

The friends who assisted her in receiving were Governor and Mrs. Nathan, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. W. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Hemphill, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Miller, Misses Louise Bigby, Lillian Lochrane, Conner, of Savannah; Ella Ketter, Gene Bates, Genie West, Phoebe Kille, Lillian Brown, Martha Hester, Mary Patterson, Lillian Markham, Slaton, Pearl Broyles, Lillian Goldsmith, Maudie Goldsmith, Ernie Richmond, Maudie Williams, Anna Williams, Annabel Northern, Desea Dougherty, Lucy Dougherty and Jim Wylie.

There were about two hundred guests besides the members of the fraternity.

Mrs. James Swann, of New York, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Albert Thornton, on Peachtree. Mrs. Swann's visit is always a source of great pleasure to her many Atlanta friends.

Several men of the city's Wednesday evening have been seen in the city, and it is said that the sight of so much feminine beauty, and truth to tell, I don't think I've ever seen quite so many lovely girls as are living or visiting in Atlanta just now.

Among the strangers I noticed particularly were half a dozen girls. There was Miss Annie Sue Hill, of Newman, the guest of Miss Wilkins, a young Venus, with full, fair figure and faultlessly formed milk-white arms and shoulders. She wore a sea-green clinging gown, and the amber lights in her hair and eyes might have been caught from the morning sun as she arose from the arms of her ocean mother.

Miss Wimbly, small, dainty of face and figure, with curly, gold-brown locks and violet eyes, was sweet and fresh as a song from the throat of a woodland thrush.

Miss Anna Williams had the glowing color, dark hair and luminous eyes of the typical southern girl.

Miss Emma Ingraham, of Savannah, brought along with her sweet, coast-country accent a manner charming and a face ever varying and always charming in expression.

There was Miss Marshall, Mrs. Joseph, a girl with a full, round face, a figure and manner, a beautiful head, carried exquisitely and crowned with the loveliest curly, blonde hair, and clear-cut features, denoting in every curve the high-bred, dainty lady.

As for the home girls, none pleased me more than Miss Adelaide Maule. Her gown might have been wrought of pale pink crumpled rose leaves, so fine and soft was its texture. The pink and white fitting bodice had several loops of crystal beading falling over the hips, and the round-cut neck was finished with the same. The skirt was plain, and perfectly fitting. A simple gown, forthright, but thick of the consummate grace in elegant simplicity.

The sweetest yellow toilet was worn by Miss Adelaide Youngblood, a petite brunette with a perfectly rounded figure and the brightest and most pleasant face.

The material was primrose yellow silk, trimmed with chiffon and jet-black beading, the latter outlining the pointed zone and the shoulders, and furnishing the bands of the full chiffon sleeves.

The wedding of Mr. Harry Cassin and Miss Minnie Hillier, which occurs on the evening of the 20th of December, will be in every way a notable and brilliant affair. Miss Hillier is a very beautiful girl, and her loveliness is of a brunette type, which is extremely fortunate when one goes to don wedding robes, for I believe it is conceded that dark brides have an advantage over their fairer sisters on their wedding nights.

Mr. Cassin is a blessed with a handsome person and they will make an ideal wedding pair. The bridesmaids, with the exception of the maid of honor, will wear pale rose chiffons over silk. The church decorations will be white and pink. The maid of honor will wear white crepe de chine and the bride's robe will be one of the richest and most elegant that ever graced a wedding ceremony.

The wedding party will be as follows: Best Man—Mr. Albert Howell. Maid of Honor—Miss Lillie Hillier. Attendants—Mr. C. V. Rankin and Miss Adeline Adair. Mr. J. Frank Lester and Miss Lucy Jones, Alabama. Mr. James L. Riley and Miss Lillie Lawton, Alabama. Mr. Philip D. Wilson and Miss Lillie Goldsmith. Mr. Louis Hess and Miss Mattie Echols. Mr. William H. Black and Miss Clara Boynton. Mr. J. H. Purcell and Miss Marianne Hillier. Mr. George Hillier and Miss Law McBride. Messrs—Messrs. William A. Matthews, A. C. Farrar, C. E. Apple, V. H. Talliferro.

The tea party given by Miss Kathleen Jones last evening to Miss Sadie Wylie, of Montgomery, Ala., was a most charming affair. The table was beautifully adorned with roses and a delicious supper was prettily served.

Miss Mary Marsh gave an elegant dinner last evening to a few friends. Miss Marsh always entertains with consummate grace and brilliancy.

At Mrs. Dickson's Wednesday evening a perfectly charming and very youthful looking girl gave me a cordial bow, and I turned to my companion and asked what debutante she was. I found that it was Mrs. Olive Fuller, and upon my word there wasn't a girl present who could outvie her in fresh rose loveliness. Some women have a way of making rose garlands instead of iron chains out of the links of time.

Invitations are out to the marriage of Miss Nellie Cliff, daughter of Dr. R. C. Cliff, of Mr. Thomas Bagley, of Birmingham. The marriage will take place at the home of the bride's parents on Georgia avenue on Wednesday evening, December 24.

The last rehearsal of the chorus which will give "The Pirates of Penzance" for the Grady hospital held Monday evening, was a great success. The sprightly and beautiful choruses of the first act have now all been quite thoroughly studied and many of them are already committed to memory. The members of the club are very enthusiastic in

HE MAY DECLINE.

Bishop-Elect Nelson May or May Not Accept the Bishopric.

IT IS HOPED THAT HE WILL ACCEPT.

He Comes with Strong Recommendations from High Sources—Committee Appointed to Notify Him Will Explain.

Will Rev. Cleland K. Nelson, the newly elected bishop of Georgia, accept the office to which he has been elected?

Or will he decline, and necessitate the calling of a fourth diocesan convention for the purpose of electing a successor to the throne and magnetic John W. Beckwith?

It is an open question. Members of the Episcopal church in this state are very much in doubt, but are deeply anxious that Rev. Mr. Nelson accept.

Said a prominent communicant of the Episcopal church, yesterday:

"I would be glad to believe that Mr. Nelson will accept. That he is an able and pure man I have no doubt. He comes with the very highest recommendations, and members standing in the front ranks of our church in this state have visited him, and thoroughly satisfied themselves that he is well fitted for the place. Now, Mr. Nelson, might misconstrue the temper of the opposition to making his election unanimous, and hesitate about accepting the election. It might cause him to decline. But if he could be made to understand the true state of affairs, as they exist, he would not let that stand in his way for a moment. I sincerely hope he will accept. It seems we are hard pressed to get a man to accept the office held by the illustrious Beckwith, who died performing his duties."

The Atlanta delegation to the convention reached the city yesterday morning at 10 o'clock.

All of the delegates were of the opinion that the selection of Mr. Nelson was a very good one, and all were hopeful that he would accept.

Mr. Z. D. Harrison, who recently visited Mr. Nelson at his home, and who was deeply impressed with his personality and sincerity in his work.

An Atlanta gentleman, who attended the house of the late Rev. Mr. Nelson, and who was a student of Mr. Nelson's uncle, says this of the newly elected bishop:

"I have not met Mr. Nelson of late years, but from what I saw of him at college, I am satisfied that he has developed into a man of strong intellectual force and charming social qualities. He comes of an old and aristocratic Virginia family, and was greatly influenced by young Nelson at college, and would be glad if he accepts the bishopric."

Augusta, Ga., November 12.—[Special.]—Rev. C. C. Williams returned this afternoon from Macon, where he attended the Episcopal convention, at which Rev. Cleland Kinloch Nelson, of Pennsylvania, was called to the bishopric of Georgia.

Williams, who was in the city yesterday evening and asked him for his reasons why he objected to making Rev. Mr. Nelson's call unanimous. He said he offered to give his reasons at the convention, but that he desired, but as they were not asked for he did not give them, and now as matters are all settled, he would not say anything about it.

He says he does not want to reopen any excitement.

Mr. Nelson Undecided.

Bethlehem, Pa., November 12.—Rev. Dr. C. Kenton Nelson, who last night was elected bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Georgia, said tonight in reply to the question that he did not know whether he would accept it or not.

"Mrs. Kelly requests me to write you in regard to what S. S. S. has done for her son, who has been sick so long with an abscess. She had two physicians, and they did everything for him that they could, and he did not improve. For fourteen months and five days he was in bed and not dressed. Some one recommended your S. S. S., and after he had used it for three days he began to improve. He continued until he had taken eleven bottles, and today he is as well as ever. The boy is fourteen years old, and Mrs. Kelly lives next door to me, and I am well acquainted with the facts of the case."

GEN. H. R. JACKSON. FINANCE AND TRADE.

His Address at the Capitol Tonight Will Be a Revelation.

HE WILL WAKE UP THE COUNTRY.

His Views Turning on the Famous Wanderer Case—The Last Ship That Came to Georgia.

General Henry R. Jackson, of Savannah, ex-minister of the United States to Mexico, will deliver a public address in the house of representatives tonight at half-past 7 o'clock.

This is the first of a series of historical addresses arranged by the directors of the Young Men's library, and General Jackson comes at the invitation of that institution.

His subject is one calculated to cause discussion, and his treatment of it will be a revelation to most people.

He takes up the famous Wanderer case, which stirred the state and set Savannah on fire in 1860. The intensity of the feeling was so great, at the time, that two duels were fought during the progress of the trial.

The Wanderer, it will be remembered, was a slave ship which landed at Jekyll Island in 1860, just on the eve of the war. The purser of that ship, who took the Africans and went to New York with the men, enlisted the next year in the war started by the abolitionists, and became a corps commander.

General Jackson's views on the question of slavery, and the relations of the northern and southern states to that institution, are calculated to wake up the country, and his speech will no doubt be the subject of much comment and possibly some controversy.

It is a subject with which he is probably more familiar than any living man, and his views, it is understood, will be given in the press in book form within a few months.

There will be no charge for admission and the public is invited. The house of representatives is a large hall, but it will be tested tonight. Arrangements have been made to throw open the large rooms on each side if necessary to accommodate the crowd.

There are several hundred comfortable seats in the galleries and the acoustics are such that the speaker may be easily heard there.

General Jackson arrived in the city at 9 o'clock last night, and is at the residence of his son, Captain Harry Jackson. He is in perfect health, and appears to retain all the vigor displayed in the great impeachment trial some years ago. A rare treat is anticipated in his address tonight, and he will have a large and representative audience.

READY FOR TRIAL.

The Charge a Very Grave One, and Excites Great Interest Among Military Men.

The battalion court martial ordered to be held for the trial of W. W. Appier and W. W. McMillan will begin this morning at 10 o'clock.

It will be held in the Zouaves' armory, and when the hour for it to begin arrives, no doubt the hall will be crowded with interested spectators.

But they may not be allowed to remain and hear the trial through. It has not been decided whether the doors will be closed during the trial or not. It is quite likely that it will be decided to hold the trial openly, and let all hear it who desire to do so. This is left with the court martial.

A resume of the case, the charges against the young men, and the fact that the court martial had no precedent to follow was published in yesterday's CONSTITUTION.

The fact that the charge is a very grave and unusual one has excited the greatest interest in the trial of the accused among the military men of the state, and the outcome of it is awaited anxiously by them.

If found guilty the penalty is left to the discretion of the court martial. They may exercise leniency or severity.

The trial has been twice postponed, but there is very little likelihood of a third postponement, as all parties are ready.

PATTI ROSA TONIGHT.

Charming Patti Rosa, who has worthily won her place at the head of the list of American comedienne, comes to the opera house tonight, and will be seen in her delightful comedy, "Dolly Warren," which is one of the best of her merry career.

It is admitted that the popular little artist is in greater form this season than ever before and is growing steadily in popularity, but also in the measure of her artistic powers.

Her regular troupe of comedienne will be the recipients of much social attention.

The accomplished comedienne is a pleasing little trick of manner. She sings a comic song with expression and action, dances as gracefully as can be wished, and is a perfect comedienne and comedian in her response to the wishes of her audience.

From every corner of the hall she will be every way an excellent one, the leading comedienne being Will Mandeville and Joe Cawthorn. Saturday night her engagement will close with a performance of "Imp."

Motion in "Faust."

This brilliant motion picture company will be here Monday and Tuesday, at night and matinee, and will present the great play of "Faust" on a scale of grandeur and splendor in this city. Two carloads of the scenery and stage effects are brought by the company. The company is said to be the best in the world.

Every factory and workshop in the land should keep on hand Salvation Oil, 25 cents.

THE CONSTITUTION. ATLANTA, GA. FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1891. TEN PAGES.

and disappointed hopes of bulls. The receipts were again disappointing, aggregating about 5,000 bales more than the corresponding day last year, while from present indications, port receipts for the week will amount to about 25,000 bales, which will appear against 27,000 bales for last year. The main selling today has been the closing out of long on spot orders. The general impression seems to be that prices are now reaching a bottom, and that at the same time, however, there is no desire to buy, nor do we believe that such will be the case until there is a marked falling out in receipts, so that we think a very sharp recovery may be looked for.

CAPITOL GOSSIP.

Little Danger of an Invasion of Tennessee by Miners

OVER THE BORDER INTO GEORGIA

To Release the Convicts Imprisoned at Cole City and Rising Fawn—The Governor Absent.

The possibility—perhaps probability—of an invasion upon the convict camps at Rising Fawn and Cole City by the Tennessee miners, has caused the keepers of these prisons to exercise greater watchfulness than usual.

Despite all stories to the contrary fears of such an attack have been entertained, but the truth is not as black as it is painted.

Any movement toward effecting the release of the Georgia convicts would be instantly detected, and the instigators punished as they deserve.

Guards are kept regularly on watch in anticipation of an attack, and every possible precaution has been taken to prevent a surprise.

"The danger of such an attack," said Mr. George H. Jones, principal keeper of the penitentiary, yesterday, "has been greatly overdrawn. I am in constant communication with Captain Connor at Cole City, and from what he writes me, I think there is little, if any, danger of such an attempt on the part of the Tennessee miners. I have instructed him to be prepared for any emergency, and if such an attempt were to be made, they would meet with a warm reception. But I don't think it likely. Even if the miners were inclined to such a thing, the situation in Georgia is very different from what it is in Tennessee. They haven't the moral backing here that they have there. The people of Tennessee are with them. No, I think the people have no immediate cause for uneasiness."

The Governor Away.

Governor Nathan was absent from his office yesterday, attending a Baptist association in Wilcox county. He will be absent until Saturday.

The members of the railroad commission will spend next Tuesday in Albany, looking into the merits of the Albany case recently brought before that body.

No decision has yet been rendered in the Ryan case, and will not be for probably two weeks.

SAYS THOMAS DID NOT RESIGN.

But That He Violated Professional Ethics and Was Bounced.

"There was a misstatement in an interview with Dr. Julian P. Thomas in THE CONSTITUTION a few days ago," said Dr. W. P. Nicolson, dean of the Southern Medical college, yesterday, "which I would like to have corrected."

"Dr. Thomas states that when he saw that his advertisement of 'no cure, no pay,' would likely embarrass the college with which he was connected, he immediately resigned. The truth of the matter is," said Dr. Nicolson, "that as soon as we saw his advertisement we were cognizant of the fact that he had violated the ethics of the profession, I at once wrote him a letter requesting him to discontinue his lectures. Afterwards we met, and he told me that he had resigned. Of course it is immaterial as to how he construes his departure, but after his clear violation of professional ethics, it could not be expected to retain his connection with the Southern Medical college."

Continuing, Dr. Nicolson said: "I noticed that Dr. Thomas was spoken of as a professor in the Southern Medical college. He was not a member of the faculty, but simply a lecturer, without compensation and without any connection with the management of the institution. There are a number of young men who fill these positions, which assist them in establishing themselves and at the same time enable us to fill an occasional hour with their work. Dr. Thomas, in his remarks about advertising, states that it is done by prominent physicians of the north, but it is well known that no regular member of the profession who has the ability to draw his practice otherwise, puts any such cards even in medical journals. We regret that it has become necessary to take this step, but in an institution which is presumed to teach its students not only the theory and practice of medicine, but something regarding the ethics of the profession, it is not surprising that it would be manifestly improper to retain one whose conduct was so unprofessional as in this case."

A NOTABLE CASE

Results in a Verdict by the Jury in Favor of a Railroad Company.

Most Atlantians will remember the wreck on the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railway Company, in which Mr. Bob Lawrie, a well-known Atlanta citizen, lost his life. In a collision between a passenger locomotive and the cab of a through freight, near Rockmart, Lawrie was knocked out of the cab in which he was asleep and thrown through a trestle, eighty feet to the ground beneath. When picked up he was dead, and his widow brought suit in Fulton superior court against the railroad company for $25,000.

At the first trial of the case, Judge Clarke, on motion of defendant's counsel non-suited the case. The supreme court reversed Judge Clarke's ruling, on the ground that the case should have gone to the jury. The second trial of the case consumed seven days of the superior court, and resulted yesterday in a verdict by the jury in favor of the railroad company—an unusual result with modern juries.

The plaintiff was represented by Messrs Arnold & Arnold, and the railroad company by Dorsey, Brewster & Howell.

Death of Mr. W. Z. Taylor.

Mr. W. Z. Taylor, until recently a patrolman on the police force, died yesterday morning at 2:30 o'clock at his home, 27 North Bell street, after a short illness from typhoid fever. Last Friday he was taken from a Deatur street car in a delirious condition, and since then grew rapidly worse.

Mr. Taylor was thirty-four years of age, and leaves a wife and several children and a large number of friends to mourn his loss.

The funeral will take place today. The burial will be at Oakland.

The success which Hood's Sarsaparilla has had in freeing childhood from afflictions caused by impure blood, is really remarkable. Many a mother has reason to be thankful for it.

—the flannels that are washed without Pearline; besides, they're worn out by hard rubbing. Wash flannels with Pearline, and they will be softer, brighter and better. They will last twice as long; they will look like new while they last. Every package tells how it's done; do as it says, and it will be done well.

As one wash is sufficient to ruin flannels, great care should be exercised as to the use of the many imitations which are being offered by unscrupulous grocers or peddlers.
